

Dog has his day

by Jeff Nazzaro

After four local hearings, two with the Wilmington Board of Health and two with the board of selectmen, spanning some four months, the case of Winston, a 7-year-old German Shepherd belonging to James and Susan Piro of Floradale Avenue, was brought to a higher level with a hearing before a magistrate at Woburn District Court Friday afternoon. The case now looks like it will stretch well into summer.

After two hours of testimony from former Selectman Diane Allan, the case was continued to a date to be determined. James Piro said Tuesday that may not be until June.

In March, following the second board of selectmen hearing, Attorney Stephen Wise, representing the Piro's, was confident that the decision could be easily overturned by a magistrate, without having to go to district court and a judge - the usual course of events. But Friday, Wise did not seem to capture the favor of Magistrate John Teeven, who on several occasions cautioned Wise on procedural grounds and sustained several such objections from Wilmington Town Counsel Alan Altman, representing the board.

For the magisterial hearing, Wise subpoenaed Selectmen Jim Rooney, Dan Wandell, Bob Cain and Michael McCoy and Allan. All but McCoy, who was on call if needed, were present.

After a roughly 30-minute pre-hearing conference between Wise and Altman, the former called Allan, who chaired board of selectmen hearings in February and March, both of which resulted in votes to banish Winston, accused of biting 4-year-old Alan Browning of Floradale Avenue on the thigh. Allan, along with Rooney and Wandell, voted on both occasions to banish Winston after it was testified the dog had bitten Browning and, four years prior, a woman, on the thigh. Each wound was treated with bandages at Winchester Hospital Family Medical Center.

The second hearing, a virtual repeat of the first, was held, according to Altman at the time, essentially to strengthen the board's case if and when it was appealed to court by Wise.

That if became when Friday and Wise's first target was Allan, who he first asked why the second hearing was called and if and how the Piro's were notified.

Allan put everything here on Altman and Town Manager Michael Cairra. She said she assumed Cairra had notified all concerned parties - "I have no idea, I leave that up to the town manager," she said when asked.

Wise's beef was with the second hearing, March 11, which he protested at the time. He said then that a vote had already been taken on the issue and that his clients had not been notified of the second hearing. When he objected to its taking place, Allan overruled him. When asked Friday why she did, Allan replied it was on the advice of town counsel.

In fact, when Wise persisted with this line, asking if he was allowed or not to cross-examine several witnesses, and if not why, Allan stuck to her line that she was following the advice of Altman.

At the March hearing, Wise was told he could only cross-examine several witnesses after all their testimony had been heard together. However, after witnesses had been heard, selectmen suspended the hearing to conduct other town business and when they returned to the dog hearing, the witnesses had left. Wise was told by Altman he would not have an opportunity to cross-examine those witnesses and further that he should have subpoenaed them if he wanted to.

Friday, Wise asked Allan if she thought this was fair.

"I only could go along with what town counsel said," she replied.

"Did you wholly rely on the advice of town counsel?" Wise asked.

"Yes I did," Allan said.

This satisfied, Wise moved on to the facts of the case, pumping Allan for her reasons for voting to banish.

Allan answered that based on testimony from witnesses and documents from Winchester Hospital, she felt the dog was vicious and, along with posing the threat of biting someone else, negatively affected the quality of life in the Floradale Avenue neighborhood.

Wise then engaged Allan in a lengthy discourse on the nature and severity of the bite, the emotional impact on the bite victim, the fencing around the Piro's yard, Allan's knowledge of Animal Control Officer Ellen Davis' job and qualifications - basically everything Wise felt was at all relevant to the case.

While it was clear that questions beyond those pertaining to procedure of the two board hearings and why Allan voted as she did were better left answered by others, Wise's strategy seemed to be to show that Allan possessed no real knowledge to fairly gauge if any dog is vicious or not.

Teeven tried to keep things moving, disallowing several questions without Altman objections and mostly sustaining his objections when they were raised. In the end, Teeven seemed irked by Wise's two-hour examination of Allan, at least half of which produced no real testimony.

Altman's cross-examination of Allan was remarkably simple by comparison. Taking all of five minutes, he asked Allan briefly about the board's procedure and if she ever attempted to prevent Piro or Wise from addressing the board, to which Allan answered "no."

He then asked her, in three questions, if she believed that Browning had been bitten by the Piro's dog, to which she answered "yes."

If the magistrate does not overturn the board's decision, Wise will appeal the case to district court.

Whisper the cat didn't say a word. Whisper didn't whisper or whimper. All he wanted was his mommy, Nancy Anderson, as he stood in line for a rabies shot on Saturday. About 300 cats and dogs braved the rainy weather to get immunized by Dr. Hahn and his assistant Betsy. Personnel from the Town Clerk's office were issuing dog licenses at the same event. There will be another clinic held next spring.

Here Wilmington Animal Control Officer Ellen Davis is collecting the $5.00 (a real bargain) fee. Rabies vaccinations are required for all dogs and cats in Massachusetts. A trip to the vet can cost an extra $50 if the pet is not up to date on rabies shots.

Memorial Day softball tourney saved

by James Pote

After several weeks of uncertainty, the annual Wilmington High School "Battle of the Classes Softball Tournament," will be played in its traditional Memorial Day weekend slot.

Three WHS alums have stepped up to run the tournament a week after Jack Cushing stepped down after running it for the past 15 years.

Jay Barrett, Gerry O'Reilly and Rob Santos told Wilmington Recreation Director Ron Swasey that they will run the tournament, which will be played on the weekend of May 25. The annual dance will follow, but this year will be at the Knights of Columbus (instead of the usual Sons of Italy) on Sunday, May 26.

Barrett said on Monday afternoon that the trio just wants the tradition to be continued on Memorial Day Weekend. He said Cushing has been very cooperative with them, but he will have nothing to do with running the tournament.

Barrett also said the same rules will apply that Cushing has instrumented over the years. But, one of Cushing's rules were that a class had to have been out of high school for three years upon entering the tournament, so that the entire class would be 21 years of age. Barrett said this year both the class of 1992 and the class of 1993 will be allowed in. But only players who are 21 are allowed to play for the class of 1993.

Class representatives are being asked by the trio to sign up at the Town Park on the sign-up board at the concession stand on Monday-Thursday nights between 5:30-9:00 p.m. by Monday, May 20. The drawing will be held that Thursday, May 23 at the Town Park when there is a meeting of the class representatives. Tickets for the dance will also be sold at the Town Park the entire weekend of the tournament.

Any questions can be directed to either Jay Barrett at 658-2635 or Gerry O'Reilly at 657-7537.

Bike Rodeo = free, fun family fare

by Stu Neilson

What the hottest thing on two wheels these days? A kid in a helmet on a bike, and hundreds of them are expected for the 3rd Annual Wilmington Kiwanis/Police & Fire Departments' Family Safety Day/Bicycle Rodeo to be held at the Swain School parking lot Saturday morning (May 11) from 9 a.m. to noon.

The Rodeo is a day of 100 percent free family fun. The first Rodeo drew more than 200 happy youngsters, while bad weather the second time around limited attendance to less than one hundred.

This year the weather should be bright and sunny and more than 250 children are expected. There will be two bikes given away by the Firefighters' Union to lucky children who complete the rodeo course.

In addition to the bikes, other giveaways include: a coupon for a free ice cream cone at Tootsie's, free food at the event and lots of tips on bike safety. The value of the latter can not be measured - it could mean the difference between life and death.

Helmets will be for sale at below wholesale prices: $10 and $15, depending on the model. All the helmets are ANSI and SNELL approved, with the difference in price reflecting the paint job only - the protective quality of all these helmets is the same.

The Kiwanis Club has purchased them at wholesale prices and is subsidizing the price to be sure that any parent can put a helmet on their child.

Cycle Loft of Burlington will be on hand to perform safety checks on bikes. Minor repairs and adjustments will be made on the spot. Major work will bring a recommendation that the bike be brought to the shop.

Following the inspection the child would proceed to the "Dangerous Driveway" education station where they will learn about the most dangerous street in Wilmington - their own. More children are hurt in front of their own house than anywhere else. Following that are two more safety lesson stations.

At the end of the course each child will receive a certificate and a bag of goodies.

Parents are encouraged to bring their children any time between 9 a.m. and noon to participate. They should bring the child's bike and helmet if he or she has one. If not, helmets (child and adult sizes) will be for sale, as mentioned. In-line skates (Roller Blades) and trikes are also invited.

Parking is available between the Swain School and the 4th of July Building or parents can bike to the site with their children.

"My Fair Lady" in Wilmington

The North Regional Theatre Workshop is back at it, with several Wilmington residents set to appear in the nonprofit, community theater's spring production of "My Fair Lady".

Joyce Hughes is playing the role of Mrs. Pearce, Henry Higgins' long-suffering housekeeper. Her previous roles with NRTW include Nettie in "Carousel", Aunt Eller in "Oklahoma!" and the title role in "Hello, Dolly!". Hughes also lends her creative talents to making and adapting authentic looking period costumes for herself and many of the other cast members.

Maureen Carreiro is cast as Mrs. Higgins, Professor Higgins' mother. A long time member of NRTW, Carreiro has played such varied roles as Sally Cato in "Mame", Appassionata Von Climax in "Li'l Abner" and Diane Lorima in "42nd Street". She currently serves on the NRTW Board of Directors as treasurer.

Along with dancing and singing in the chorus numbers throughout "My Fair Lady", Katie Finn, Ellen Heigham, Skip Hughes, Tom Kilburn and Michelle Thomas are each performing in special numbers and/or featured roles.

Finn (busker, servants' chorus, dancer, maid) has performed with NRTW in "Carousel", "Oklahoma!" and "Hello, Dolly!". She has also performed with the Silver Lake Spotlighters' Children's Theatre and the WHS Almost Broadway Players and studied dance at Debi's Dance Studio in Wilmington.

"Hello, Dolly!", "Carousel" and "Oklahoma!" are also among Ellen Heigham's (Mrs. Hopkins, servants' chorus, dancer) NRTW credits. In addition to her theater work, Heigham is an active volunteer with the Wilmington High School PAC.

Skip Hughes (servants' chorus, past roles include Mr. Bascomb in "Carousel" and Farmer Carnes in "Oklahoma!"). His other musical credits include Chorus Pro Musica, an extended chorus for performances at Tanglewood and recording sessions at Symphony Hall with the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

Tom Kilburn (cockney quartet, servants' chorus, dancer) made his NRTW debut last fall as Jigger Craigin in "Carousel", which was his first show since his college days. He also sings with the chorus at St. Thomas of Villanova.

"My Fair Lady" marks Michelle Thomas' (dancer) first production with NRTW. She has previously performed with Colonial Chorus. Thomas studied modern dance and ballet at the University of New Hampshire and is a member of the Merrimack Valley Chapter of the Sweet Adelines.

My Fair Lady opens Saturday, May 18 and continues May 24 and 25 at 8:00 p.m. at Wilmington High School. Group rates are available, along with discounts for seniors, high school students and children. For ticket reservations, or for more information, please call (508) 664-3949.

THE BEST LEGAL TAX SHELTER

Don't look for fancy tax shelters until you've taken advantage of the simplest and safest ones. The best and easiest choice for most people is a qualified retirement plan.

Whether you choose a 401(k) or 403(b) at work, an IRA, a Keogh or a SEP - or a combination of them, if you qualify - your investment can grow with all taxes on earnings deferred until distribution. That means your money earns more because all of it is working for you.

Your contributions to a qualified plan are deductible from current income, improving your tax picture now. (Even if you don't qualify for a deductible IRA, the tax deferral feature still makes it a good deal.) And many employers will match contributions.

To make the most of your qualified retirement plan, make contributions as early in the year as possible, to maximize growth. Excess contributions, if any, can be taken out without penalty before the due date of your tax return.

Shelter income now for a cozy retirement "umbrella." Talk to us about it at

Editorial

One good reason to abolish town meeting

by Bill Conlon

Tewksbury Town Manager David Cressman knows his job. There are few in town who will argue that point.

Cressman is charged with handling the town's finances, and he's done a superb job by most people's accounting. Cressman avoided layoffs in FY '92, when the town faced a $1.4 million deficit, and he's held the line firm during some tough budget times. His revenue forecasts for the town have been within a few percentage points of being dead-on, year after year. If he was a horse bettor, he'd be banned from every track in the U.S.

But who cares about accuracy?

Voters on Monday night rejected the Town Manager's recommendations for the school budget, and granted more school spending than Cressman wanted. Amazingly, the higher school department spending is based upon the Finance Committee's prediction that revenues will come in higher this year than the Town Manager expects.

How's that again?

Cressman, with a sterling track record in forecasting town revenue, had his recommendation ignored, while the Finance Committee's tax revenue forecast, which was higher, was supported.

But the FinCom doesn't make budget forecasts. Never has. And the way the Finance Committee voted to boost school spending was a professional slap in the face for Tewksbury's Town Manager.

Cressman originally agreed to $175,585 more this year for the schools than last year. Other town departments are facing tiny budget increases, if any, but the schools got a sizeable bump. Then, at a meeting of school and Finance Committee officials on April 22, Cressman agreed to add another $256,040 to the school budget, for a total increase of $431,625 over last year's spending level.

But then, after Cressman left the April 22 meeting between the Finance Committee and the schools, thinking everything was settled, the FinCom voted to add another $368,375 to the school budget! Cressman didn't find out until the following day that the Finance Committee was now calling for a school budget some $800,000 higher than last year's school spending, not the $431,625 increase he'd approved!

At Town Meeting on Monday night, Cressman and other town officials called for a school budget of $19,116,043 while the FinCom and school officials supported a higher school budget of $19,484,418.

By more than two to one, voters approved the higher figure. It made no difference that the higher spending is based upon revenues that Cressman doesn't believe will arrive. It didn't matter that the budget may have to be slashed in the fall if the FinCom prediction proves wrong.

So, the voters supported higher spending for the schools, based upon an untested prediction by the Finance Committee, while Cressman's years of accurate financial forecasts were tossed out the window. Amazing.

Then, just minutes after voting for a budget that might throw the entire town into a financial tailspin, some 200 voters got up and walked out of the Town Meeting. They'd obviously gone for one reason only.

If the traditional "Open Town Meeting" form of government is someday discarded, the budget debacle in Tewksbury on Monday night may be used as an example of how irresponsible Town Meeting voters can be.

Apparently, in the minds of the single-issue voters who "packed" Town Meeting, more spending must mean better education. Incredible.

Seeking shipmates?

Dear Larz:

As newsletter editor for my husband's former shipmates, I often hear from veterans wondering about their ship and whether or not there is any way to make contact.

It therefore occurred to me that it would be a great service to many naval veterans if you could publish the enclosed list of organizations to contact, in order for such veterans to reestablish contact with their former shipmates.

Sincerely,

Anne E. McCarthy

Letters to the editor

Correction, the Senate version

Dear Larz:

According to state environmental officials and environmentalists, 68 percent of our state's rivers fail to meet minimum water quality standards.

Protection of our rivers and waterways in Massachusetts is vitally important to public health, the environment, and to the state's economy. Existing laws have not done enough because the problems of poison runoff in our cities and towns has actually grown 14 percent worse since 1982.

The best way to protect our rivers and waterways in this state is to pass the Massachusetts River Protection Act, commonly known as the Rivers Bill. The bill has passed in the State Senate six times in six years, only to end up in the House Ways and Means Committee, and never be heard from again!

Specifically, the bill would protect most river corridors by prohibiting development within 150 feet of river banks and waterways. A provision will grant exemption for existing structures, and allow a reduced setback in densely populated areas.

These measures would prevent the need for construction of multi-billion dollar water treatment plants to make water drinkable from rivers and groundwater sources. A $1.5 billion recreation industry in Massachusetts would be protected. Seventy percent of the state's endangered species, which depend on rivers and river corridors for their habitats, would be preserved.

Please voice your support for the Senate version of the Rivers Bill today.

If James R. Miceli is your State Representative, call him at (617) 722-2692.

If Marianne Brenton is your State Representative, call her at (617) 722-2488.

Sincerely,
Joan Sadowski
Wilmington

[Last week, when this letter was first printed, "House version" was erroneously substituted for the correct "Senate version". We apologize for any confusion this may have caused. As noted in the letter, the Senate has passed its version of the Rivers Bill six times. Currently, the House is working on a much weaker version, which the author of this letter and others supporting this cause do not wish to see approved. Rather, they would like the House to embrace the Senate's version--Ed.]

Daffodil Days a great success

Dear Larz:

What a success the American Cancer Society's Daffodil Days were recently in Greater Lowell!

More than 146,000 of these cheerful, yellow flowers have brought a long overdue spring to homes, banks, stores, and offices, restaurants, schools, churches and temples.

The Greater Lowell unit of the American Cancer Society has raised $73,000 to help support cancer research, education efforts, and local services for cancer patients and their families.

Our daffodils were trucked here from Washington state. Beverly Bennett and her team made sure that the Greater Lowell daffodils arrived here bright and early on March 26, when we began sorting and tagging them for distribution throughout the week.

Because of the harsh winter being experienced on the West Coast, Daffodil Days had to be postponed by a week so that the flowers had time to grow. We are grateful to all of our customers, who were so patient and understanding.

But the beauty of the flowers more than made up for the delay! We have all marveled at the miracle of their beauty bursting forth into large yellow blooms. What fitting symbols of hope. We also deeply appreciate those who took time to sell daffodils at strategic locations around Greater Lowell.

Dozens of volunteers from across the Greater Lowell region helped deliver the flowers. There were many touching moments as we felt both the pain and hope of people who shared with us their personal battles with cancer. It was a privilege to meet them all, and we are grateful for their support.

The American Cancer Society launched the Daffodil Days program 15 years ago in Massachusetts. So many cancer survivors are with us today who, only 15 years ago, would not have survived.

This is due to the progress in research and early detection provided by the American Cancer Society. We thank you for making this possible.

Sincerely,
Julie Parry Baron,
Regional Executive Director

What's up with Tewksbury Baseball?

Dear Larz:

I am a parent of two children who are in Tewksbury Baseball. Sunday, April 20 was opening day. It was a beautiful day in the high 70's. The schedule for opening day starts at 10:45 a.m. for pictures, going through to 2:00, the end of the parade.

In the past years coaches gave out tickets for the children to go to the concession stand to get lunch consisting of a hot dog, cold drink and popcorn, after the parade. What a great idea!

But this year the ticket was only good for a piece of penny candy. Many children, including mine, were upset, some not even bothering to stand in a hot, long line for a piece of candy.

I, like most parents, understood that our children were hot and hungry, so we bought them a cold drink and hot dog. Question, what about the children whose parents couldn't do that?

Has Tewksbury Baseball gotten to the point that we can't supply lunch to the children or even a cold drink?

My question to them, I guess, is, has the price of a case of tonic gone up so much since last year? What about the price of a hot dog? Where does all the money that is given to Tewksbury Baseball, from registration fees, monies collected at every game and profits on the concession stand go?

I don't feel that I am the only one with these questions and concerns. I wonder to myself have things changed that much in the past year that we can't supply our baseball players with a cold drink at the end of opening day?

Thank you for hearing me out.

Sincerely,

Just a Tewksbury Baseball Parent

Strings end special year with special concert

by Jeff Nazzaro

A very special, busy year for the Wilmington Strings Attached student orchestra will come to a momentous close Tuesday, May 21 with a concert played in tribute to Christa McAuliffe, the New Hampshire school teacher who died along with six astronauts when the Space Shuttle Challenger exploded Jan. 28, 1986.

A year ago marked the beginning of Strings Director Ward Dilmore's British-American Project, when 74 musicians and parents traveled to Lake George, N.Y. in May to play a concert and study British sites from colonial America. In October, students from Holmfirth, England journeyed to the states and in April of this year, the American students returned the favor.

"A project as far-reaching as the British-American requires a cooperative effort from teachers, food service, custodians, administrators, school committee, the superintendent, secretaries and parents," Dilmore said. "To show our thanks, Strings Attached will present 'I Had a Teacher', our final concert of the season honoring all who helped make our year so special."

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Geraldine O'Donnell will introduce McAuliffe's mother, Grace George Corrigan, recent author of A Journal for Christa.

Corrigan will be presented a gift on behalf of the town by State Rep. Jim Miceli and will be on-hand for book signing and a post-concert reception.

Honoring McAuliffe is a way for Strings to hold up all teachers for tribute and praise.

"We will salute school professionals with a tribute in remembrance of a special teacher, Christa McAuliffe, who will be remembered for her love of teaching and her adventuresome spirit," Dilmore said. "In this way, we will remember we are who we are because we can all say 'I had a teacher.'"

Tickets are $2 and are available to school professionals and parents. Only 1,000 will be sold. The October concert sold out and no tickets were available at the door, so those interested are advised to order soon. The concert is scheduled for 7:00 p.m. on May 21 in the WHS gym.

Strings Attached will honor Christa McAuliffe with its year end concert, May 21 in the WHS gymnasium.

Let's Talk Real Estate with Ralph E. Newhouse and
Maureen A. Foresteire
GRI, CRB

DO YOU REALLY HAVE TO SEE EVERY HOUSE IN TOWN?
 There are two basic types of buyers. The first kind of buyer is the one who thinks that the way a Realtor makes house hunting easier is by eliminating all the houses that are either too big or too small, too unattractive, too overpriced by unrealistic owners, or houses that are just not what they think their buyer wants. The second group of buyers is terrified that the Realtor will miss the absolutely perfect house, and they want to see everything. You don't really have to see every house on the market if you can establish good communications with the Realtor with whom you decide to work. If the Realtor encourages feedback and tries hard to listen to what you say and to what you don't say, and you feel he or she truly understands your criteria and will be able to narrow down your choice to the homes which would suit your needs, then there is really only one type of buyer to be.

Kacamburas: young man on a Mission

by Jeff Nazzaro

Sometime around the 18th of June, Wilmington High School senior Kevin Kacamburas will find himself in another world. He will only be scant miles from U.S. soil, though 3,000 miles away from home, but it will be another world.

June 17, Kacamburas and 31 other young men and women from all over New England will embark on an eight-day mission with the Greek Orthodox Diocese of Boston in Tijuana, Mexico. The border city, with close to half a million people, lies less than 50 miles from San Diego and all that city's Southern California setting represents in American culture. But in terms of lifestyle, it couldn't be further away.

It is with that clearly in mind that Kacamburas and the other young missionaries, including three others from his Annunciation of the Virgin Mary church in Woburn embark for the hot, dusty, impoverished locale.

"It will be a good experience going down there and helping everybody out," he said.

This will be the third consecutive year the diocese has sent graduating seniors on its "Youth Mission Trip to Mexico". Kacamburas heard about it a couple of months ago and, after asking some friends who had been previously volunteered to go.

The group will stay in Tijuana at the St. Innocent Orthodox Orphanage, which, as described by Rev. Christopher Foustoukos of the Annunciation Parish in Newburyport is "by local standards ... palatial: running water (when the pump works); electricity for four hours each evening; and toilets like those in Greece."

Compared to what Kacamburas will be leaving here in Wilmington, "palatial" seems a generous description. But from the orphanage, the mission will meet with a single-parent family for which they will build a modest, one-room home. This work site will be in a remote area outside of Tijuana. The group will be bussed over hot, dusty, unpaved roads to a place with no electricity or running water. A place where currently the family they will be helping is living in cardboard boxes.

Though he knows it will be tough, hot work - 100-degree weather in a place where shorts are not worn - Kacamburas is looking forward to the trip, to helping others and experiencing a new part of the world - "Crossing the border to Mexico - that should be fun."

But the trip is also a costly one and Kacamburas needs to raise between $1,000-1,500 by May 15. He has sent out several letters requesting spiritual and financial assistance from local businesses and residents. Every little bit would help.

In his letter, he states "I first and foremost request that you pray for me and our mission team as we travel to Tijuana, Mexico for this important ministry. In addition to your prayers, which will be the foundation of our trip, I am also asking for your personal financial support.

Tax-deductible donations can be sent via checks made payable to Diocese of Boston Mission Mexico '96 with Kevin Kacamburas' name written on the memo line. All donations must be collected by May 15.

Steve Gilardi was busy Friday evening giving advice and complimentary handshakes at Colonial Park Liquors in Wilmington. He had returned after a "rest" and is now available on Friday evenings for public relations. Stopping in for his hand shake is Brad Lucas.

Moore Temp names Broussard as "Temp of the Year"

Moore Employment Inc., (a/k/a Moore Temps) annual Temporary of the Year has been awarded to Susan Broussard of Tewksbury.

This most prestigious award is given annually to an outstanding temporary who possesses quality in work performance, dependability in every undertaking, excellent attendance, and fantastic "old school" work ethics.

Susan is in her fourth year working with Moore Temps. She has grown and increased her already excellent secretarial skills and is keeping her software skills updated in all of the 90's software.

Susan had registered with other agencies prior to her recommendation to sign up with Moore Temps and was reluctant because of the uncomfortable feelings she had after signing up with other agencies.

Susan said, "When I first met with Helen and her staff, I immediately felt comfortable and knew this was the beginning of a beautiful relationship. After a long term assignment temping, I found a regular job as a legal secretary for an attorney who specializes in bankruptcies, collections and evictions."

"After several months, I realized I made a mistake; then got involved in volunteer work; and soon needed to supplement household income and called Helen to put me back in the active file, and available for temp-ing!"

"All my assignments are in professional environments and with Moore, you can get training or

All this week Officer Shelley has been making presentations at the Wilmington elementary schools. His topic has been bicycle safety. A film is presented which captivates the youngsters and just to hold their interest a little longer a bike is given away to one lucky student in each assembly. In conjunction with this the Wilmington Kiwanis Club is sponsoring a poster contest. Winners of the poster contest (one in each grade) win a new bike helmet.

All this is leading up to the Kiwanis/Fire/Police bike safety rodeo on Saturday. The rodeo will be held at the Swain School from 9 a.m. - 12 noon. All children are invited to bring their bikes & helmets.

Winners at the Wildwood Street School were: bikes: Jonathan Bishop & Edward Tucker; posters: Mallory Biggins, Brett Peterson, Caitlen Nee and Kara Bruce.

Water Department violation

This notification is to inform the customers of the Wilmington Water Department that the Wilmington Water Department failed to collect samples of trihalomethanes analysis in the distribution system during the last quarter of 1995 as required by Drinking Water Regulations of Massachusetts, 310 CMR 22.00. This failure to monitor constitutes a violation of the Drinking Water Regulations of Massachusetts, 310 CMR 22.00 and requires the Wilmington Water Department to provide public notification as specified in 310 CMR 22.16 Drinking Water Regulations of Massachusetts.

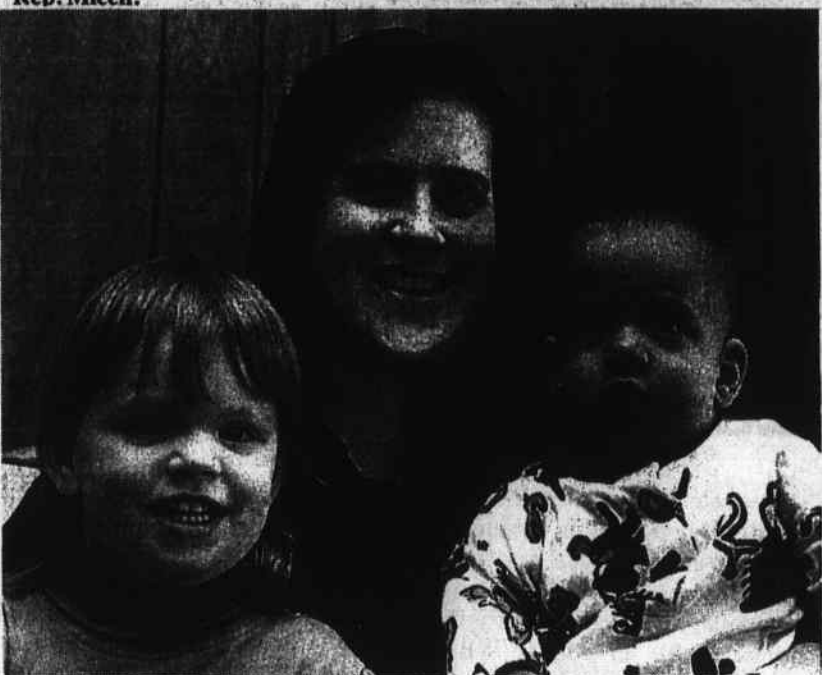

The Wilmington Water Department has taken the following steps to correct the failure to monitor. Two additional certified water treatment plant operations have been given the responsibility of monitoring water quality sampling frequencies. This will provide checks and balances on performing water quality testing on time.

The maximum contaminant level set by the United States Department of Environmental Protection for Trihalomethane (THM) is 100 micrograms per litre. The highest level recorded by the Wilmington Water Department for THM was in May 1993 at 14.8 micrograms per litre. The analysis performed in the quarter before and after the missed sampling quarter showed THM levels at 2.0 and 4.8 micrograms per litre respectively.

If you have any questions concerning the town's water supply, please do not hesitate to contact the Superintendent's office at 508-658-4711.

Sincerely,
Wilmington Water & Sewer

Baby's birthday is special day of celebration

It is Ryan Stumpf's birthday on May 19. That is a happy coincidence because he and his parents Anne Marie and Rick Stumpf, of Tewksbury, will participate in the fourth annual "Big Steps for Little People" Walk-a-Thon for Winchester Hospital's Maternal and Child Services, scheduled for May 19. But the Stumpfs say this day will always carry a special meaning for them. It was the day a team of nurses and doctors at Winchester Hospital saved their baby's life.

One year ago, Anne Marie arrived at Winchester Hospital for a fetal stress test. The next few hours, she says, events unfolded with dizzying speed. "I remember the doctor saying the baby was very sick, he had persistent pulmonary hypertension and it was life threatening. The staff at Winchester Hospital did all the right things," she said.

She recalls that the hardest thing about Ryan's birth was knowing that she couldn't take the baby home. "But the staff at Winchester Hospital was excellent. They were so upbeat. And finally, three weeks after Ryan was born, I got to take him home."

"If it wasn't for Winchester Hospital, there is no way he would have pulled through," said Anne Marie. "I believe in what Winchester is doing 100 percent and when I heard about the Walk-a-Thon, I knew my family would be there to participate."

Easter Seal Hop-n-ing

Youngsters at the Mill Brook Country Day School in Wilmington will learn about physical disabilities during the week of May 13 through a special Easter Seal program sponsored by TJ Maxx, WB56, WWLP-TV22, and Business Equipment Depot.

The Easter Seal Hop-n-ing teaches children about the causes of disabilities and their effects on people's everyday lives. The children also find out how wheelchairs, crutches and other specialized equipment work.

The next part of Hop-n-ing gives the kids a chance to help. They hop as many times as they can in three minutes, earning money pledged for each hop by family and friends. Funds raised help provide Easter Seal services that expand independence for men, women and children with disabilities. Services include summer camp, therapeutic swim programs, home health care, physical and occupational therapy, speech therapy, equipment loan, technology for independence, support groups for people recovering from strokes and information and referral services.

Last year nearly 16,000 children across Massachusetts learned about disabilities and hopped for Easter Seals, raising $212,000.

When the Shriners proudly present their annual three ring circus, May 13 through 19, there will be an all new production from ring curbs and mats to backdrops and a fresh supply of international talent produced by George Hubler.

Animals are still the support system of the circus, and this year's indoor Big Top has the surprise hit of the year. It's Cuzin Grumpy's pork chop revue of the silliest pigs in creation. These pigs draw screams and shouts of glee from the youngsters of all ages.

On the other side of the spectrum is the beautiful Lilli Anna and her Asian spotted and black leopards. These gorgeous creatures are immaculate in appearance as a result of pains taking tender loving care. Spectators have noted that you can eat off the floors of their cages. The animals are probably treated better than most kids, say observers. The precise grooming and training have resulted in a rewarding performance in the center right of the Shriners circus, uniting beauty and beasts.

The biggest performers of them all are the Bronson elephants, performing pachyderms with their trunks full of new tricks.

Especially appealing to the young cowboys and cowgirls are the magnificently matched Liberty ponies of the Garden Brothers. Their intricate drills are amazing.

Headliner for this big show is the greatest name in circus history - The Flying Wallendas. These all time high wire champions feature Tino, the grandson of the legendary Karl Wallenda whose stupendous feats took the breath away from people as they watched in awe. The Wallendas are a high wire legend climaxing each performance with their fantastic human pyramid without a net or safety device.

A recent surprise "lucky" booking is the all time first appearance of America's hottest acrobatic risley act. Following two seasons with Ringling, the Mike Ashton Family has been exclusive with NBA major league basketball game intermissions. By a chance break, the Ashton's are making their first circus appearance in a long time and expect standing ovations with their lightning fast acrobatic moves. They have made guest appearances with the Celtics, Bulls, Magic Heat and Cavaliers.

The fantastic finale - called the Umbrellas of the Universe - has Singing Ring Hostess, Miss Rebeka Monroe and the entire circus cast "Singing in the Rain" chasing away the clouds, and making All Your Days Be Circus Days.

The Shriners Circus is taking place at Shriners Auditorium in Wilmington, off exit 39, I-93. All seats are reserved, with 14 performances. Circus dates are Monday through Sunday, May 13 through 19. The weekday morning shows start at 10 a.m.; evening performances at 7 p.m. Two shows Saturday, May 18 at 1:30 and 7:30 p.m., Sunday at noon and 5 p.m.

Ticket prices weekdays are $8 for adults and children $4, for kids under 13. Weekends $10 for adults, children $5 for kids under 13. The box office is open daily at the Shriners Auditorium, or charge your tickets by phone (617) 665-6466, (508) 657-4202 or toll free 1-800-700-0013.

Apothecary, located at 211 Lowell Street.

At the Essence Hair Salon on Church Street last Friday, robbers were in the building long enough to take the entire cash register. Police are still looking into whether or not these instances are related to other acts of vandalism in Tewksbury, Lowell, and Dracut.

Said Wilmington Deputy Police Chief Bernard Nally, "We just don't know. We are still investigating. The smash and grab one is probably related to others around the suburbs." The term smash and grab refers to thieves smashing a window or door and grabbing as much as they can in the shortest amount of time possible.

"It doesn't take them long," said Nally.

Despite its name, Village Apothecary does not sell prescription drugs. According to Nally, the thieves cut the alarm wires before entering the building.

Nally offered some advice to business owners to try and protect themselves from becoming victims of a break-in.

• Owners shouldn't leave more cash than is absolutely necessary in the store's register.

• Security bars are useful over windows and doors. They make it harder for a crook to crawl into the store after breaking glass or wood.

• For a cost, glass that resists breaking is very useful to keeping out would-be criminals.

The Reading Municipal Light Department (RMLD) reminds its customers in the four community service area that summer rates will go into effect on June 1, and will remain in effect until September 30. Although summer rates are higher than winter rates RMLD rates are among the lowest of the 42 electric utilities in Massachusetts.

The RMLD has a seasonal rate structure because the peak demand season occurs during the summer months due to the increased electrical usage from air conditioners, swimming pool filters, window fans and other appliances used during the warm weather, according to RMLD Assistant General Manager Vincent Cameron.

The average residential customer, one who uses 500 kilowatt hours of electricity per month, should experience an increase of $6.59 per month when the summer rates go into effect. Commercial customers who use an average of 4000 kilowatt hours per month and have a 10kw demand should see an increase of approximately $134.44. The increase reflected on the customer's bill from June to September is not the result of a rate increase, it is because the RMLD has a seasonal rate structure.

For more information about the RMLD, or the RMLD rate structure, call 944-1340 and ask for the Energy Services Department.

Reading Light announces summer ratesWilmington senior topics*Nutrition class

The first nutrition class of May will be held Tuesday, May 14. Weigh ins begin at 9:30 a.m. The class will start promptly at 10. If you have added a few pounds, too many over the winter months, instructor Jean Webster will help you get started on eating a proper diet, eliminating those fatty foods. The exercise and dance classes will complete your plan to shed those extra pounds and improve your overall health.

Sewing, knitting, crocheting

The sewing, knitting and crocheting class is beginning to add more interested students. Ann and Marilyn enjoy teaching these crafts to any Wilmington senior citizen who would like to learn, every Thursday from 9 a.m. to noon.

We have opened up the glass cases in the craft room to any senior who would like to sell a craft article they have made. Many residents throughout the year come in looking for knitted or crocheted baby clothes, toys or craft articles as gifts for showers or hospital visits. A volunteer is always available to show the display of items in the cases. Your article may be the one they select. At the present time we have an excellent display of dolls, toss pillows, ceramics, knitted and crocheted articles for sale by the seniors who made them. Why not drop in and check them out? The center is open from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Mall shopping trip

The first mall shopping trip will be Tuesday, May 14. The minibus will leave the Center at 9:30 a.m. for Burlington Mall. If you would like to go by bus to the Mall, sign up will be until Monday afternoon, May 13. You will be picked up at 2 p.m., for the return trip to the Center at the Mall.

Eye health screening

The free eye health screening test sponsored by the Executive Office of Elder Affairs, the Mass. Department of Public Health and the Mass. Society of Eye Physicians and Surgeons will be held Saturday May 11 until noon. In our area the screening will be at St. Memorial Medical Center, Hospital Drive, Lowell. Contact Susan Butterfield for information (508-934-8334); or Boston Medical Center (formerly New England Memorial Hospital). Contact Trish Campbell 508-828-7015. Any resident 50 years or older is eligible to participate in the free eye screening. If you are 50 years or older you should have your eyes tested at least once a year. To lose eyesight is very frightening. Not being able to see everything we took for granted, is devastating. Most eye problems can be corrected if detected early enough. These examinations are given by professional eye doctors. They are volunteering their time free of charge to the elder citizens all over Mass. on this day and time only. Local seniors are urged to take advantage of it.

National Coalition of Childhood Professionals

'Improve the quality of care for children'

By DOUG WOOD-BOYLE

MATTHEW EDWARDS of Lynnfield and Laurie Cagney of Beverly are two of the eager youngsters that find their way around on a computer.

Children are the future of the country and in today's economy more and more parents are being forced into letting the training of those children be put into the hands of underpaid child care professionals.

The question becomes who is training those professionals and is the cost of the training too expensive for what they are being paid to take care of the children?

This was a question that Diane Edwards decided to take a look at when she was pregnant with her youngest son, Casey, 4, and thinking of being a stay at home Mom.

Her students at the time came up to her and asked where they would get the training at a cost that was not prohibitive and without going to college? The answer was the National Coalition for Childhood Professionals (NCECP), a completely non-profit, all volunteer agency, founded in 1991, that does not receive any federal, state, county or local financial aid and does not accept money from the United Way.

NCECP, since its humble beginnings, in Revere, has grown into a national group, now in Connecticut, Massachusetts, Nebraska and Texas, that is run out of offices in Lynnfield, Orleans and Woburn. It has set its sights on the rest of the country as soon as they settle on the final curriculum that will be offered in a Continuing Education Unit (CEU) training course.

As of this writing, NCECP has provided training to well over 1,000 individuals to

"Don't tell me you cannot get a good job because you can't get the training," Edwards said, "because here's the training for $10."

"...improve the quality of care for children," according to one piece of literature.

According to the Mission Statement, "NCECP was founded in 1991 as a non-profit educational organization to improve the quality of care for young children regardless of disabilities, socio-economic status or cultural backgrounds. NCECP is dedicated to promoting communication among parents, providers, regulators, educators and others interested in contributing to the field of early childhood."

One goal of the group is to standardize the CEU requirements in all the states.

"Each state has its own standards for early childhood training," Edwards said. "We are working with a variety of states to standardize the CEU training so that it will be recognized in other states."

In Massachusetts, NCECP is one of only two agencies authorized by the state Office for Children (OFC) to issue CEU's to early childcare providers. They make their service available to anyone in the industry including, baby sitters, grandparents and teachers.

To reach out to the out of state people and to the local people requesting NCECP training the group has developed a program called Distance Learning, which has been approved by the OFC. It consists of a package which includes a textbook, an audio tape and a video tape.

The program is described as "...self-instructional curriculum training courses that provide another opportunity for Early Childhood providers to increase their skills."

Edwards said it is designed for those providers that cannot afford to be away from their

Free skin cancer screenings on May 9th

As the average American increases the time spent outdoors, exposure to the sun also increases. As each year passes we are seeing increasing numbers of people with skin cancers, such as melanoma, basal cell and squamous.

Although the numbers are rising, early diagnosis and treatment increase the chance of cure. Join several Melrose Wakefield Hospital physicians on Thursday, May 9, when they conduct the annual free skin cancer screening at the MWH Cancer Care Center.

The skin cancer screening will be held between the hours of 5-7pm and screenings are by appointment only. Mail in registration is required. Registration coupons for the screening are available in the front lobby of the hospital, or your local library or Council on Aging. Or call MWH Public Relations at 617-979-3507 to have a coupon mailed to you.

Boston Regional Hospital births

PAUL AND JUDITH (BURNS) TURENNE of Reading, announce the birth of their second child, a daughter, Shauna Marie, born April 22, 1996 at the Boston Regional Medical Center. She joins her sister, Lauren.

Grandparent honors are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Leo Turenne of Reading and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Burns of Lynnfield.

MR. & MRS. DAVE RICH-BURG (Kathy Reidy) of Woburn announce the birth of their son Mark Thomas on April 8, 1996. He joins his brothers Brian and Eric and sister Kayla. Grandparent honors are extended to Mrs. Barbara Reidy of Woburn and Mrs. Carolyn Richburg of Wilmington. Great Grandmother is Mrs. Laura Wright of Malden.

About The Towns

by Phyllis Nissen

10, 9, 8 ... Care!

Wilmington's Top 10

The top 10 reasons not to attend annual Town Meeting are these, according to the Wilmington "Town Crier": 10) "It seems like it comes up every year"; 9) "Just 'complaining' about politics is a full-time job - who needs overtime?"; 8) "Cadillac Police Cruisers! We need 'em!"; 7) "Are the Bruins still playing?"; 6) "What, are they gonna vote to put a sewage treatment plant on 'every' street?";

And 5) "I really, really trust those guys"; 4) "I can read all about it next week in the 'Town Crier.'"; 3) "I'm not into full-contact sports"; 2) "Democracy Stinks!!"; and 1) "It's not in my back yard. Who Cares?"

"Note:" - notes the "Crier," "None of the above reasons are valid. See you at Town Meeting ..."

Cinema City or Pub...lic relations?

Movies on Main St.? That's the question in the "North Reading Transcript" about the possibility of a cinema pub in North Reading, a pub which had previously planned to locate in Reading across from Marshall's, plans which, according to the "Transcript," "fell through."

The possibility of movies on Main St., notes the "Transcript," was "introduced to the Board of Selectmen ... by the representatives of Showmax Cinema with their proposal to locate a cinema pub in North Reading."

"What's a cinema pub?" "As described by Showmax representatives Linda Marino, Louis Monteforte and Brian Lynch, it will be a combination pub-movie theater showing full length movies on a 9 by 20 foot screen."

"In addition to watching the movie, patrons will be able to order from a menu of fast food, beverages and appetizers served by waitresses."

"Those beverages would include beer and wine, which explained the purpose for the company's visit to the Selectmen. They wanted to sound out the board on the possibility of applying for a beer and wine license at a later date - assuming the company finds a suitable location in North Reading ..."

The company has investigated such locations as the former Our House restaurant, the David Smith Company and the Siemens-Nixdorf building. Selectmen have registered no opposition to the concept and have an open mind about issuing a beer and wine license; however, there are no guarantees.

"According to Marino and Monteforte, the pub-cinema will not have a bar," notes the "Transcript." "Patrons would order from a fast food-appetizer menu featuring pizza, nachos, potato skins, french fries, etc. Beverages would include soda, juice, beer, and wine."

The business would be open six days a week until 1 a.m. and would feature three movies per day, at 1 p.m., 6 p.m. and 9 p.m. The company is looking for a facility capable of seating 100 people.

So why go to Town Meeting?

Because, notes the Wilmington edition of the "Town Crier," town meetings are "a good way to exercise (your rights) ... good for the kids (their future) ... politically correct (and a great way to correct politics) ... give you a voice in who runs the show (and the right to squawk when you don't like the plot) ... can be good for the garden (if you can find a way of bagging all the B.S. that gets thrown."

Quality child care

From S-1 daycare settings long enough to attend a regularly scheduled class. She notes that many providers are working from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. on a daily basis.

"This way they can go home and have all the materials they need for a CEU course."

However, Edwards also said that the mail order course is not an easy one. It has been designed by herself and other professionals that have many years of educational and classroom training.

Edwards, the mother of two, including her older son Matthew, 7, is married to a locksmith, Peter. She received her Bachelors degree in English Literature from Merrimack College and a Masters Degree in International Cultural and Education and Training from Lesley College in Cambridge.

In between the two degrees, Edwards spent time with the Peace Corps in the Dominican Republic, where she learned how to write grants while successfully trying to transform a home for abandoned children into a vocational school.

She has just qualified to participate in a doctoral program in Higher Education that will be held at the University of Massachusetts.

Edwards noted that the people that participate in the Distant Learning program have to do quite a bit more than just answer questions on a true/false test or send in an essay.

"The participant has to submit a portfolio to a college instructor for a review," Edwards said.

She added that the portfolio has to include a written text, a video tape and before and after pictures of the assignment.

"Nobody is going to take (the course) just to get credits," Edwards said.

According to an information package on the program, "Reviewers are experienced Early Childhood professionals who want to broaden their professional growth by being part of NCECP's training network."

Reviewers must meet the following standards:

- possess the designation Lead Teacher, Director I or Director II for the appropriate age group;
- possess a two-year or four year degree in a related field of study; and
- have three to five years (depending on education) experience, with at least half-time spent as a teacher or administrator in an Early Childhood program.

"In this field you are working with children whose personalities are just forming," Edwards said explaining the need for the standards.

However, she notes that the field is rife with people that only get paid $5 per hour, and do not feel they get paid enough to seek a college education in the subject.

Locally NCECP has a program, run through the Boston Regional Medical Center in Stoneham called "kidsense." As described in the group's newsletter, the "NCECP News Brief," "kidsense is a series of workshops presented by the Center for Child and Family Development..."

The cost of the program is $10 and attendance is limited. However, at the completion of the program training certificates and the appropriate CEU's are issued.

According to Edwards, money is no excuse for not having a proper training in Early Childhood care. She explained that if there is room in any of the courses no one will be turned away.

"Don't tell me you cannot get a good job because you can't get the training," Edwards said, "because here's the training for $10."

The Distant Learning courses cost a little bit more money because of the amount of time and the number of materials involved. Depending on the amount of hours involved the courses can cost between $100 and $125.

None of these costs pay for the cost of operating the agency and fundraisers are held throughout the year. One upcoming event is a "Cajun Cruise" that will sail out of Salem Harbor and tour the coastline between Salem and Marblehead as participants taste Cajun foods and dance to the music of "Rythmo Loco," an acoustic rock group.

The cruise is $2 and more information can be received by calling (617) 284-6092.

In September the group will hold their 1996 Captured Wildlife Art Exhibition. That will be held at All Saints Episcopal in Stoneham. Information can be received by calling (617) 255-4350.

Every month NCECP presents "Y Not Come Play at the Y?" with Mother Goose.

It is an interactive period from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. held at the Wakefield YMCA, with the next date scheduled for June 2. Parents are advised to bring a brown-bag supper in case the little ones get hungry.

Edwards said that the entertainment is provided by Sally Davis "...who gives us a good rate, but we still do not make any money."

She explained that this is a community activity that is provided by NCECP. For more information on times and dates call (617) 284-6092.

The group is looking for a new interactive play area to replace the one they lost at the Stone Zoo.

Edwards said the area was in development for about 1 1/2 years and when the group finally got the use of the Giraffe House at the Zoo they were only allowed to stay for four months before being asked to leave because the Zoo needed the space for an animal exhibit.

She added that a community playground that NCECP had built for the public use, free of charge was enclosed and can now only be accessed by paying zoo admission.

For those childhood professionals that would like to hold classes or seminars on location, NCECP can pack up their donated van and take the show on the road. Many other programs are also available and Edwards or the other volunteers are always ready to give information on the many programs. They can be reached by calling (617) 284-6092.

Free senior eye screening

Boston Regional Medical Center will hold a free, walk in, Eye Health Screening for senior citizens on Saturday, May 11 from 9am to noon in Suite 112 of its Medical Office Building. The screening is part of an annual statewide event co sponsored by the Massachusetts Society of Eye Physicians and Surgeons (MSEPS), the Executive Office of Elder Affairs and the Massachusetts Department of Public Health.

Ophthalmologist Robert G. Alexander, M.D. will screen patients for cataracts, macular degeneration, glaucoma, and other diseases common to seniors. The screening will also include vision testing.

Appointments are not necessary for the screening. For more information, call 617-665-3773.

Steve Sweeney on tap at Dick Doherty's Comedy Club

Dick Doherty's Comedy Escape at the Ramada Plaza Hotel in Woburn has a full program on Friday at 9 pm and England political scene, Steve Sweeney has been performing to sold out crowds from day one. The first of the Boston superstars to break into television, Steve was the star of "Park Street Under," a very successful Boston based sit-com.

He has been a regular on all the major TV shows, David Letterman, Jay Leno, Evening at the Improv, HBO, Caroline's and many others. Come on down and see why Sweeney is still the undisputed King of New England Comedy.

The second featured performer is Gerroll Bennett. Bennett arrived on the Boston comedy scene about four years ago and quickly established himself as one of the most frequently requested acts on the Boston comedy circuit.

Gerroll's observational humor and quick wit are trademarks of a stand-up routine that has gained him national recognition on Black Entertainment Television on his own talk show. Gerroll continues to expand his club credits while opening for such established headliners as Jonathan Katz, Lenny Clark and Gallagher.

Steve Sweeney

Saturday at 8 pm and 11:30 pm. Admission is $10 and Dinner/Show packages start at $19.95 plus tax and tip.

The headliner is Steve Sweeney, a national headliner and Boston Comedy legend.

During the early 70's, in the beginning days of comedy clubs as known today, a small group of Boston 'would-be' comedians joined together in a back street Chinese restaurant off Inman Square in Cambridge, the now famous Ding-Ho. This group included such unknowns as Lenny Clark, Kevin Meaney, Jay Leno, Bobcat Goldwaite, Steven Wright, Don Gavin, and of course, Steve Sweeney.

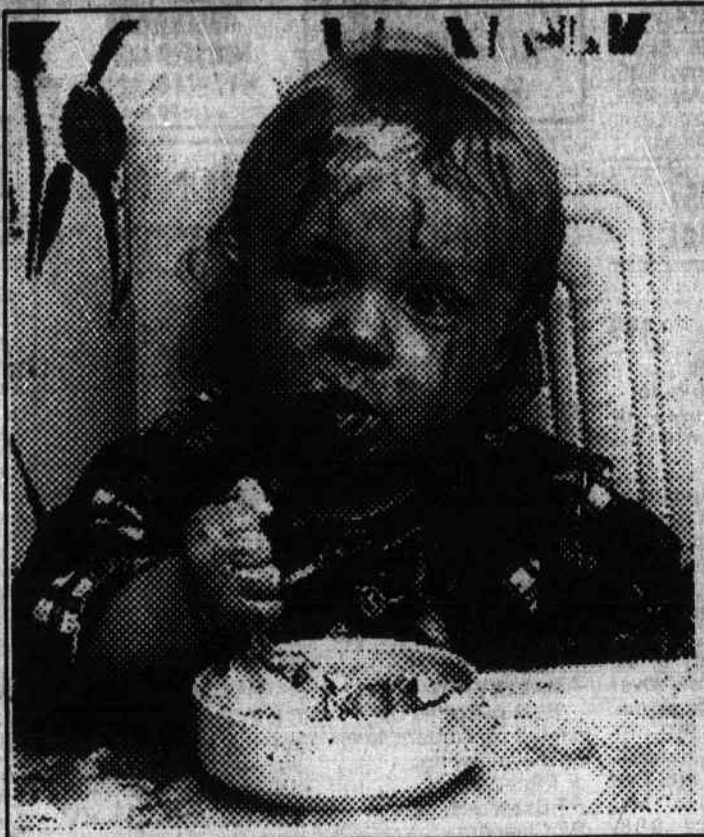

Known for his use of dialects and great insight into the New

Yet another college fair

If you missed the National Association for College Admission Counseling Boston National College Fair on May 1st and 2nd at the World Trade Center, and can't wait for more local cooperative college fairs this fall, Salem State College offers the following option.

Salem State will sponsor a "North Shore College Fair" at the Salem College O'Keefe Sports Complex on Canal Street in Salem on Monday, May 13th from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

The fair is hosted by the following high schools: Beverly, Bishop Fenwick, Essex Agricultural & Technical School, Gloucester, Ipswich, Lynn Classical, Lynn English, Lynnfield, Manchester, Marblehead, Nazareth Academy, North Shore Regional

College 'Sports'

Vocational, Peabody, Revere, Rockport, Salem, St. John's Preparatory, and Swampscott High.

"All other North Shore High Schools are welcome to attend": for more information, call Nate Bryant, Salem's associate director of admissions at (508) 741-6200.

A bit of Stoneham in Woburn

An intensive therapeutic summer program for boys and girls ages four to 12, and 13 to 18, Camp Horizon, run by the Boston Regional Medical Center, provides "a therapeutic community based on the principle that growth and development in childhood and adolescence is best facilitated by forming positive interpersonal relationships with adults and peers."

"Through carefully designed classroom activities, structured groups and close monitoring of behavior and participation, youngsters are encouraged to develop new skills and strategies for achieving success and increasing feelings of competence and self-worth," notes the brochure. "A partnership is formed between the staff, the youngsters and their families which emphasizes the sharing of information and the development of action plans which will allow for constructive changes in all areas of functioning."

"Camp Horizon provides an intensive summer experience which allows the youngsters we see to change and grow while also enjoying a relaxed and fun-filled time."

Located in Woburn, the camp runs for nine weeks from July 1st through August 30th. The $3,000 for one three-week session ($200 a day for each additional day) is covered "by most health insurances." For more information, call Dr. Cynthia Kaplan at 933-2200.

"Victorian Mother's Day" Magic Lantern show

The American Magic Lantern Theater the nation's only theater company recreating the 1890s ancestor of today's movies premieres its new show, "A Victorian Mother's Day Celebration," at the Museum of Our National Heritage, Saturday, May 11 at 8 pm and Sunday, May 12 at 2:30 pm, and 7:30 pm. Admission is $10 for adults and $5 for children 12 and under. For ticket information, call the museum at 617-861-6559.

Dazzling antique color slides are projected by an 1890s "magic lantern" projector on a full size movie screen. The slides illustrate Victorian stories, comedy, and songs in celebration of Mother's Day. They're dramatized by costumed actors, narrators and singers in a mixture of raucous fun, melodrama, and tender sentiment. The audience also plays a major part, tooting on horns, providing sound effects, and joining in sing-alongs.

Magic Lantern shows were tremendously popular in the nineteenth century, and the first movies drew upon them for many of their story lines and for what we now think as "cinema" techniques such as animation, dissolves, pan shots, and close ups.

"The Victorian Mother's Day Celebration" captures the tender sentiment and boisterous good humor with which Victorians hailed their mothers. Tearful mothers weep for their wayward sons in lyric soprano Nancy Stewart's "Where Is My Wander Boy Tonight?" Visionary mothers inspire their children with stirring stories of love and adventure in lead performer Terry Borton's rendition of "The Lady of the Lake" and "Maud Muller." And bewildered mothers take it on the chin in mezzo soprano Tricia Dehls' playful parody, "Don't Swat Your Mother!"

The Museum of Our National Heritage is located at 33 Marrett Road in Lexington at the corner of Route 2A and Massachusetts Avenue. The Museum is open Monday through Saturday, 10am to 5 pm; Sunday, Noon to 5pm. Admission and parking are free. For more information call the Museum at 617-861-6559.

Taking the 'Fifth'

"Students are coming to the health office with what appears to be symptoms of Fifth Disease (Erythema Infection)," notes Reading school nurse JoAnn McMahon, in a warning echoed by Reading's other school nurses.

Fifth Disease, according to the nurses, is a mild viral children's illness caused by the human parvovirus B19. Approximately one third of those exposed develop the typical rash.

"The first stage of illness is usually mild and consists of headache, body ache, sore throat, low grade fever and chills," note the nurses. "These symptoms last for about two-three days and this is the infectious period. The virus is spread by respiratory droplets."

"These symptoms are followed by a second stage of one week where there are no symptoms at all."

"The third stage is followed by a bright red rash on the face which gives a 'slapped cheek' appearance. This may be followed by a 'lacy' rash on the arms and legs. By the time the rash appears, the disease is not thought to be communicable."

"No treatment is indicated. The disease seems to be innocuous and the prognosis is excellent. Isolation is not necessary for children with Fifth Disease."

"There is a concern for some pregnant women who become infected with parvovirus. These women should see their obstetrician for evaluation."

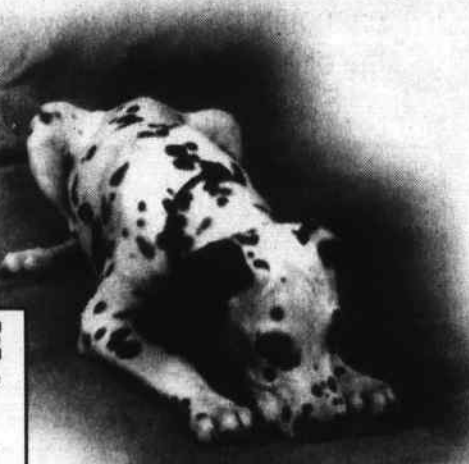

If you'd like to read about your favorite school, student or teacher in "School Notes," please send school newsletters and other relevant information to Phyllis Nissen, "School Notes," Middlesex East Supplement, Box 240, Reading, MA 01867. We welcome student writing.

Scottish Fiddle Club Rally

The 12th annual Scottish Fiddle Rally takes place at 8pm Saturday, May 11 at the

Somerville Theater, in Davis Square, Somerville. It is presented by the Boston Scottish Fiddle

Club, led by fiddler Edward Scott Pearlman. Featured soloists are master

Cape Breton fiddler Buddy MacMaster, and the spellbinding Scottish fiddler John McCusker, of the Battlefield Band.

Dancers include the great Cape Breton step dancer Harvey Beaton, who will also play piano for Buddy and the high twirling Highland dancer Laura Scott. John will be accompanied by Tony Cuffe, lead guitarist with the legendary Scottish band, Ossian.

Some 40 players from the Boston Scottish Fiddle Club will join with exuberant sets of traditional Scottish and Cape Breton music, filling the hall with a warmth the audience has come to look forward to since 1965.

The Boston Scottish Fiddle Club is in its fifteenth season of monthly workshops sessions for kids and adults, and coffeehouses, under the direction of fiddler Ed Pearlman. With nearly 200 members, the group is the largest and most active of its kind in the U.S.

The Fiddle Club celebrates the April 1996 release of its new CD/tape: "Scottish Fiddle Rally, Concert Highlights 1985-1995", featuring solos by today's masters of Scottish and Cape Breton fiddling—Alasdair Fraser, Aly Bain, Natalie MacMaster, Buddy MacMaster and Jerry Holland.

MEMBERS OF THE BOSTON SCOTTISH FIDDLE CLUB will hold a rally on May 11th at the Somerville Theatre starting at 8pm.

Be Kind to Animals Week

Have you hugged your pet today? Have you thought about those animals less fortunate than your own furry friend? National Be Kind to Animals Week, May 5-11, gives us all the opportunity to remember the animals that bring so much joy into many of our lives. The Animal Rescue League of Boston invites the public to celebrate and commemorate animals with a week long series of events.

An open house will be held at our Pine Ridge Animal Center at the Animal Rescue League of Boston's Dedham branch (55 Anna's Place at 238 Pine Street)

May 4 (10am-4pm) in conjunction with our rabies clinic (10am-2pm). We will officially begin the festivities on Humane Sunday, May 5, with a "Blessing of the Animals" held at the Pine Ridge Cemetery in Dedham. The ceremony will be conducted by Reverend Robert W. Gollidge, D.D., Board Member of the Animal Rescue League and Vicar of Old North Church.

Recent animal heroes will receive Humane Awards as part of the ceremony as well. Open houses will be held at the Cape Cod branch (Route 6A, East Brewster), Salem Branch (358 Highland Avenue) and Boston headquarters (corner of Tremont and Arlington Streets) on Saturday, May 11, 10am-4pm. The Boston Open House includes a reptile demonstration by herpetologist Marla Isaac, and activities for children.

Throughout the week the Boston Facility will open the doors to the public for special presentations, tours of the shelter and exhibit of our photo contest winners.

For more information, please contact the Animal Rescue League of Boston at 617-9170.

Friends of NRA organizational meeting May 15

The Middlesex County Friends of NRA are forming to organize a Friends of NRA Dinner & Auction this fall. They bring NRA members and their families together for camaraderie and good times, while raising money for The NRA Foundation.

These events are a non political family affair supporting many NRA programs such as firearm safety, junior shooting programs, second amendment research, range improvements and hunter education classes.

Fifty percent of the net proceeds are granted at the national level to perpetuate safe and responsible firearm ownership with the remaining 50 percent being spent on projects in the state of Massachusetts.

They are looking for volunteers to assist in holding a Friends of NRA event in this area. They are holding an organizational meeting Wednesday, May 15, at 7pm at the Woburn Sportsmen's Association, 155 Middlesex Turnpike, Bedford. Those who would like to attend this important first meeting or more information, please call NRA Field Representative Carl Provost at 617-938-1978.

Real estate educational grants available

How can you find a good landscape architect? Tour the area to look for outdoor spaces that you like. Ask the owners of these spaces for information about who designed and built them. Visit garden shows. Seek recommendations from friends, nurserymen and local consumer agencies.

Beautiful landscaping is always noticed. It will delight the eye and gladden the heart every day. "And," says Willcher, "it will pay back in increased value to a house a great deal more than it cost."

For more information on outdoor furnishings and the outdoor room, call 1-800-852-2144 for a free copy of Causal Decor, an 80 page guide to outdoor/indoor furnishings.

Planning an outdoor room

Outdoor space is the public's introduction to a house, a preview of the ambience and mood inside. Its welcoming aura should be warm and gracious with plantings, structures and furniture reflecting your taste and personality.

Outdoor space deserves the same thoughtful planning and creativity that produced the interior rooms in which persons take such pride. Best of all, the outdoor room most likely will be the least expensive room of all to furnish and decorate.

The first step, says award winning landscape architect Mark Willcher, "is to think about how you're going to use the space. I design a totally different garden for someone who wants to sunbathe than for someone who loves to read a book under a tree."

Dream of the ideal backyard. Create a mental picture of yourself, cold drink in hand, sprawled on a chaise lounge reading the Sunday Papers, or lolling in a steamy hot tub, or sitting with friends in a cool white gazebo.

Consider, also the need for privacy, preference for sun or shade, the need for tables and seating.

For any major project, it's well worth the money to obtain a plan from a first rate landscape architect. Their usual charges both networks and ratified by their respective Board of Directors. The closing of the transaction is subject to satisfactory completion of the due diligence process but their hope is that the combination will be finalized within 30 days. The new partnership will retain the RELO name.

This combination of the two oldest and most established networks will result in the largest independent broker network in existence. The new partnership will boast 1,100 member companies, a collective residential sales volume of approximately $80 BILLION, and a dramatic increase in the referral base of members of both networks. An additional benefit of this merger is the emergence of an even stronger corporate relocation program, as the RELO

In addition to imposing high standards for network membership and referral quality and productivity, by joining forces these two companies become the industry's premier independent real estate broker network. Rick Nazzaro and Bobbie Botticelli, owners of Colonial Manor Realty, stated "As a member of RELO, all of us at Colonial Manor Realty are very excited about this merger. Do through-the-wall air conditioners cool a house as well as other kinds?

If you are among those people who find that a window-mounted air conditioner fills your cooling needs, you should consider installing a through-the-wall air conditioner. These appliances provide the same amount of cooling as a window-mounted appliance without taking up valuable window space, and they are not difficult to install.

Don't install a window-mounted air conditioner through the wall, though. There will not be enough air flow around the appliance, and you could have further problems with condensation leaking from it into the wall cavity.

A through-the-wall air conditioner has a sleeve that supports it and ensures sufficient air flow. The sleeve also directs condensation to the outside.

Install the air conditioner on a wall that allows the cooled air to flow freely into the house.

Unless you are going to plug the air conditioner into a nearby wall outlet, hire an electrician to do the wiring. This is especially important when the air conditioner needs 220 volts, or when the service panel is old and crowded.

Highlights of what is involved starts with drawing the outline of the air conditioner opening on the wall using a level.

Locate a stud on each side of the opening, and draw a plumb line in the center of it, to the floor. Remove the drywall by cutting along the lines with a utility knife.

You will need to build a rough frame to support your air conditioner. It consists of two vertical studs, a horizontal piece at the bottom of the frame called the sill, a horizontal piece at the top of the frame called the header and short pieces of studs above and below the opening called cripples. The rough frame is slightly larger than the sleeve that supports the air conditioner by about 1 inch in width and height. This space allows for shims to be slid between the sleeve and the frame.

Slide the sleeve into the opening and shim it so it tips forward about 1 inch from level to drain condensation. On the inside, the sleeve projects about three-quarters-of-an-inch beyond the frame (check your installation manual for specific clearances). This positions the sleeve's edge three-eighths-of-an-inch beyond the drywall.

Cut a piece of aluminum flashing slightly longer than the width of the sleeve. Bend it at its center, along its length, so it forms a right angle. Use this piece as flashing at the top of the sleeve. Slide one side of the flashing under the siding to seal the joint where it meets the sleeve.

Once the sleeve is fastened to the frame, move to the outside of the house. Drill through the flashing and into the top of the sleeve and spread a bead of exterior caulk under the flashing. Rivet the flashing to the top of the sleeve with three-sixteenth-inch rivets. Smooth the caulk that squirts from under the flashing and spread another bead of caulk between the flashing and the siding. Caulk the top of each rivet head.

Return to the inside of the house and pack insulation loosely between the sleeve and the frame.

Cut a piece of drywall to fit around the sleeve and nail it in place. Spackle and tape the drywall.

Fit the cover over the sleeve before measuring for the trim that surrounds it. Miter the trim to fit around the air conditioner cover. There should be a slight gap between the trim and the cover to allow the cover to be slid on and off the sleeve.

Lone senior hurler keeps family tradition going

by James Pote
Right now the Wilmington High School baseball team is struggling with a 3-7 record. But one thing is for sure: the lone senior on the team, Ryan Rappoli, is not struggling.

In fact, as the number one pitcher for Dick Scanlon's squad, Rappoli has two of the team's three wins. And he could easily be 4-0 right now instead of 2-2, which includes a second tough luck, 6-3 loss on Tuesday to Masconomet - a perfect case of Wildcat base running blunders.

"This team has the chance to do anything we want to," said Rappoli. "But we have to want to come together. We have a lot of talent - we just have to use it."

Rappoli is continuing a family tradition of great baseball. His father, Rich, was an outstanding pitcher for Somerville High and the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. Ryan said his father has taught him everything he knows about being a pitcher.

Ryan's cousin Paul Rappoli of Stoughton is now an outfielder for the Trenton Thunder, the Red Sox Class AA affiliate. Ryan said next year he will try out as a pitcher at Westfield College and some time down the road he would like to be where his 24-year-old cousin is.

"That would be my ultimate dream some day," chuckled Rappoli.

Ryan has been a workhorse for the Cats in his first year in the rotation. Of the four games he has started this year, he has finished all of them. He has beaten Pentucket and most recently Manchester (15-0). And his two losses have come in two of the better games played this year by Wilmington against Bedford (8-7) and on Tuesday against Masconomet (6-3).

"We got off to a good start today. We were hitting the ball pretty well. We just didn't catch some of the good breaks," Rappoli said.

Scanlon said Ryan has pitched four good games and he would really like to see him get three or four more victories in the second half of the season.

"So far Ryan has pitched good. I'm pleased with the way he has been throwing," Scanlon said. "He has a live fastball and a good curve ball. He has pitched better than what his record indicates."

"I'm really looking forward to the second half of the season to see Ryan win three or four games. I wish we could have had a few more seniors to help Ryan with the senior leadership," Scanlon summed-up.

Rappoli said his fastball is his number one pitch. But he also has a slider and a curve ball as well.

"I use my slider more than I use my curve ball. But I might start a hitter off with a curve ball, but I usually mix it up," Rappoli said.

On Tuesday, Rappoli pitched a lot better than what his stats indicate. He gave up six runs, four of them earned on eleven hits (including a 340-foot tater) four walks and two hit batsmen. However, even though he didn't have his best stuff with him, he battled furiously out of several tight jams.

"I thought he pitched a great game today. A lot of things that happened today were not in his making," Scanlon said.

Rappoli is almost like a right-handed, vintage Bruce Hurst (late 80's) with a good fastball and a slow, sweeping bender. Rappoli is also an excellent fielder on the mound, which includes getting a few starts out in the outfield on his off days, is a lot better than Hurst in one area: hitting. With a sweet swing from the right side, Rappoli is a contact hitter with some speed.

"We know we have some hitters on the team, we are just struggling. But today we swung the bats good and we made a few mistakes on the bases and on defense. We will be all set once we start to play together," Rappoli said.

Ryan Rappoli has provided many things to the ballclub. Whether it is eating up innings with gutsy performances, or lifting his team with the intensity it needs with a big out to get out of a tough jam, Rappoli has provided his share.

If Wilmington turns its record around in the second half of the season, Ryan Rappoli will surely have his share of contributions.

Landers throws no-hitter as team goes 4-0 in week

by James Pote

Whew! What a week for the Wilmington High School girls softball team. Wow!

During this past week, the team reeled off four wins. The first one was a 6-1 win over Ipswich which included pitcher Amy Surran striking out 13 Warrior batters. On Friday, Kelly Landers tossed a no-hitter against Georgetown in the 3-0 shutout.

On Sunday night, after leading 7-2 and then trailing 10-7 going into their last at-bat, Wilmington tied the game up at 10 against Chelmsford to send the game into extra innings. Julie Gillis became an instant hero as she reached first on a suicide squeeze bunt to score Jill Lojek to win the game 11-10 in the bottom of the eighth inning. And after a rain-out on Monday, Wilmington beat up a good Masconomet team 8-1 behind another solid pitching performance by Landers who is now 5-0. The team is currently sitting pre-

Base-running blunders cost the game

by James Pote

If the Wilmington High School varsity baseball team could mix all of its ingredients together instead of just a few here and there, they could easily be 7-3 instead of being 3-7.

Through their first few weeks of the season, the team had good pitching and no hitting. The past week or so their hitting has improved, but their defense wasn't there. And on Tuesday afternoon, once again they couldn't mix it together, as they had good pitching, a solid afternoon with the bats, decent defense, but terrible base-running judgements.

Now the team is on the outside looking in with their 3-7 overall record - they have to reverse that record in the second half, if they want to make the state tournament for the first time since 1993.

"Ninety percent of our mistakes today were mental mistakes," said a frustrated Dick Scanlon. "It's hard to understand but we had just about the same team last year than we do now - and as sophomores, we did better in the MVC last year than we are doing now with juniors in the Cape Ann League this season."

ty at the top of the Cape Ann League at 9-2 overall and 8-1 in the league. Last Wednesday in the 6-1 win, Lisa Southmayd and Melissa Mather led the way with the bats. Southmayd was 3-4 with an RBI and a stolen base, while Mather smacked a two-run homer on a line drive to break the game wide open. Surran went the distance on the hill giving up one earned run on three hits while whiffing 13 batters for her third victory.

The following day, Landers finally got a seven inning no-hitter after flirting with one on two separate occasions earlier this season. She went the distance, walking just three (all to the same batter) and striking out 13 batters as well. As for the bats, Southmayd had two hits and Leanne Harris had an RBI triple while also stealing home on that hit.

Sunday night was a crazy back-and-forth game with Chelmsford. Surran got the start and she was relieved by Catherine Townsend and then Landers before Surran re-entered to get the win. Lojek and Harris were both 4-for-5 while Gillis added three hits of her own.

Finally on Tuesday, Landers kept up her perfect mark at 5-0 with an 8-1 win over Masconomet. Harris led the way with several big hits which drove in a handful of teammates.

The Cats have Wednesday, Thursday and Monday night games at the Town Park with all of the starts at 7:00.

Masconomet scoreless in the top half of the first inning, which included a strike from counterpart Richie Gillis down to first base to catch a leaning runner, Masco returned the favor. Phil Bates led the game off with a solid hit up the middle. He was picked off after he too leaned the wrong way - it was a start of a long and crazy game of baserunning for both teams.

In the bottom of the second with the game still scoreless, Tim Gillis was at third after a single and Eric Clancy was at second with two outs. Chris DiJulia stepped up to the plate and delivered a two-run single down the right field line just inches fair as he went with the outside pitch to make it 2-0.

Masco decided it was time to get their bats going in the top of the third. With the bases loaded and one out, a hit was driven up the middle to center fielder Eric McKenna. One run already scored, but McKenna prevented another from scoring as he gunned a perfect one hopper to Rich Gillis at the plate to nail the second runner. A wild pitch scored the second run of the inning and the game was tied at two.

With Bates on first and two outs in the bottom of the third, Billy Harrison stepped up and drove a deep fly ball down the left field line. The ball kept traveling and it landed on the warning track. Bates came around to score easily and Harrison landed on second with an RBI double to make it 3-2 in favor of the Cats.

Masco once again retaliated in their next turn at bat. Their lead-off hitter singled down the right field line, but a hustling Eric White rifled a perfect throw to second base to nail the runner out trying for a double. Thereafter a single, an error and two more singles, scored two more Masco runs as they retook the lead at 4-3.

Wilmington immediately started to comeback in the bottom of the fourth inning. After an out, White walked. Eric Clancy singled sending White to second. DiJulia grounded out and was safe at first as Masco decided to try to get Clancy at second who beat out the slow grounder to have bases loaded with one out.

After several pick-off attempts with Rich Gillis at-bat and the top of the order to follow, Wilmington took themselves right out of the inning. Masco was able to get White in a rundown between third and home on a nice pick-off move and he was out at the plate. The catcher then fired the ball to third to nail Clancy trying to advance - that left Rich Gillis, Scanlon and everyone else scratching their heads trying to figure out what just happened and how they relieved themselves out of what seemed like a great situation to be in.

"We beat ourselves today. That play changed the game - we had something going and then it was gone. I don't understand how we can make the mental mistakes that we did," Scanlon said.

In the bottom of the fifth inning, the broken record was played over again - almost. With runners on first and second and one out, Masco decided to pull a trick out of its hat after Wilmington pulled a few out of their own a little bit earlier. The pitcher stepped off the mound to try to pick-off Bates at second. Bates dove back head first. But, several of the Masco players started to run around crazy as if it was a wild throw into centerfield. The pitcher acted like his was covering second base since the second baseman and the shortstop were hustling after the ball. Bates got up and decided to go for third. The pitcher followed him a few steps with the ball in his hands - it never left.

Masco added two more runs in the top of the seventh which included a four-bagger over the 340 mark in leftcenter and Masco continued their winning ways improving to 8-2 overall, while, Wilmington tries to get out of the cellar at 3-7 overall.

The Cats will travel to Lynnfield on Thursday afternoon before returning back to Alumni Field on Sunday to face North Reading at 1:30.

Tewksbury softball team looking to get bats hot

by James Pote
The Tewksbury High School girls softball team continue to struggle with their bats as they we no-hot again on Friday night when Billerica shut them out 4-0 with the game called in the sixth inning due to rain. Heidi Von Kahle also pitched extremely well giving up just two hits - but a few errors allowed the four runs to score.

"We are just not hitting. When we do hit we hit it right at people," said head coach Leo DiRocco.

Right now the team is 2-8 over the first half of the season. They still can turn things around, but if they want to make it to the state tournament they have to it rather quickly.

The team has several home night games coming up including Friday night against Lowell starting at 7:00.

Tewksbury boys tennis seeks first win

by James Pote
The Tewksbury High School boys tennis team is still looking for its first win of the season. Lately the team has been winning more games and sets, they just can't get their first team victory under their belt. They lost 5-0 to Methuen after going 3-2 against Haverhill - they had three matches in three days so it was obvious that fatigue set in. Eric Nutile lost a tie-breaker 8-6 against Methuen. And against Lowell Tech on Saturday, Brian Crovo won his set 3-6, 6-1 and 6-3. Nutile continued to play much better as he lost 6-1, 6-1. Tim Montague lost 2-6, 6-1 and 4-6. The doubles team of Aaron Osterman and Artie Ford lost 1-6, 3-6.

Wilmington Traveling soccer highlights

With its offensive machine shifted back into high gear the Wilmington Youth Soccer Boys Under 10D Soccer Team Saturday notched its third straight shutout victory with a 6-0 blanking of host Concord.

After snapping out of some early season doldrums the boys have white washed Burlington, 10-0, Hanscom Air Force Base, 8-0 and Concord in the space of a week.

Opening the season Easter weekend against Reading, Wilmington was introduced to some stiffer competition. Twice coming from behind, the D team gutted out a hard fought 2-2 tie in a tense defensive battle.

One week later at home the D team suffered its first loss, falling 7-1 to talented Medford side.

Coach Bill Kent didn't let the defeat get his boys down. In their next game against Burlington, the D team exploded offensively led by Mark Giordano's four goals. Eric Ollila and Raymond Gravalles each had a pair of scores while Derek Concannon and Mike Cavallaro notched one apiece.

Keepers Tim Kent and Zack Ungvasky kept the inside of Wilmington's net unnotched in the 10-0 shutout.

On Friday, Kent and Ollila teamed up in goal for an 8-0 blanking of the Under 10 team from Hanscom Air Force Base. When the two keepers weren't in goal they showed the best defense is a good offense with Ollila tallying two goals and Kent one. Giordano and Concannon also scored a pair against Hanscom with a lone goal by Gravalles rounding out the offensive outburst.

In Saturday's game at Concord, Giordano displayed some dazzling ball control as he weaved through the hosts defense for a pair of goals.

Kyle Patrie and Dana Zanni were key in keeping Wilmington's offensive fire stoked. The speedy pair's play making and goal crashing runs wreaked havoc on Concord defenders.

Concannon, Ollila, Kent and Zack Ungvasky each had a goal for Wilmington (3-1-1). Ungvasky and Sean Wilson shared the goal keeping scores for the shutout. The two keepers were also defensive stalwarts when not in goal.

Under 10A

The Wilmington Girls under 10A soccer team recently began its spring season in the Middlesex League with one win, a tie and a loss.

The first game for the girls in the tough first division was against a strong Waltham team. Wilmington jumped out to an early lead with a nice goal by Rachel See with the assist going to Lauren Rappolli.

Waltham came back with a late goal in the first half after some nice saves by goalie Shannon Fahey. In the second half Waltham scored again putting the pressure on the Wildcats to answer back, but a breakaway chance by Allison Flynn hit the crossbar and a blast from inside the penalty box by Shannon Fahey hit the post and the girls lost out 3-1 as Waltham added a late goal with one minute left in the game.

The second game against Concord would be different as the team displayed fine offensive passing leading to two goals by Ashley Steenbruggen and two assists to Lauren Rappolli. In this game Lauren MacDonald was tough in net and Jackie Spry, Caitlin McNabb and Jackie Rideout had outstanding games in the 2-0 win.

Finally the third game was against Medford on a small windy field. The final score ended at 0-0 but Wilmington dominated the game with numerous breakaway chances only to be stopped by the Medford goalie.

In this game Katie Riley, Lauren Cushing and Kara Bruce provided the sound defense to preserve the shutout. The girls now set their sights on the remaining seven games and qualifying for post season play.

A great passing combination from

Paul Sferrazza to Nick Eaton and a well placed kick by Nick gave Wilmington the insurance they needed for their second win of the season at 5-3.

Wilmington finished the first half of the season with a two win, three loss record. The team's next game is Saturday, May 11 at 2:30 p.m. at Shawsheen field vs Malden.

Under 12

The Wilmington Boys Under 12D soccer travel team completed the first half of the spring 1996 season with three games in four days (May 1, 2 and 4). After opening the season with two disappointing losses to Malden and Winchester the team rebounded with two wins in this week's three games.

On Wednesday, May 1 the boys faced Reading and in an exciting game came away with a 2-1 win. Goals by Julio Fiumara and Jason Gustin were the difference as the Wilmington defense held Reading to a single score. Goaltender Patrick McDonough played his usual fine game and defenders Brian Langone and Pat Maloney were strong in support.

The following night the team faced Medford and in spite of a great team effort, the game ended with Medford having a 2-0 victory.

Wilmington controlled the entire second half and forwards Dan Vassallo, Jimmy Holden, Nick Gibson and Nick Eaton along with halfbacks Joey Mutter and defender Tom Duffy put great pressure on the Medford team. However Medford's defense held strong and a few bounces went their way.

On Saturday, May 4 Wilmington was home vs Melrose. An early light rain turned stronger as the game progressed and the field became part mud pit and part swimming pool. The effect on the Wilmington side was their strongest offensive effort of the year.

Wilmington scored first as Jimmy Holden fired a short shot from in front. Melrose responded by taking the lead with two goals, the second with only two minutes left in the half. Wilmington came right back down the field and a crossing pass from right to left was neatly put into the net by forward Johnny Lee with 30 seconds remaining.

The second half was the Brendan Callinans show. After Melrose scored early in the half for a 3-2 lead, Brendan scored twice on great individual efforts for a 4-3 lead. Melrose tried to pressure Wilmington late in the game but the defense led by Peter Brownell, Pat Maloney, Brian Langone and Jason Gustin protected goaltender Pat

McDonough and the team from

Under 14C

The Wilmington Girls Under 14C soccer team completed the first half of the spring 1996 season with a loss at Melrose and a home win against Westford.

On Saturday April 27, Wilmington traveled to Melrose in an attempt to win their third straight game. Both teams played tentatively in the game and neither side seemed to gain much control as the match progressed. However overtime, Melrose gained the advantage and scored twice against the Wilmington side. The game ended with Melrose having a 3-2 victory.

On Saturday May 4, Wilmington was at home vs Westford for the fifth game of the season. The team was short-handed due to injuries and other commitments and played the game with only two substitutes. At the opening whistle, a light rain began to fall which increased during the game making for a slick and floppy field.

As usual, Wilmington's defense led the way turning back every Westford scoring attempt. Lisa Dineen, again substituting in goal, played flawlessly and was ably aided by defenders Deanna Burns, Chris-

Are there trout in the Shawsheen River in Tewksbury? This proves it! A hatchery truck from the Division of Fisheries & Wildlife was seen on the Route 38 bridge in Tewksbury last Thursday, stocking trout into the river. Two men in the K of C parking lot were just pulling on their boots for an afternoon of fishing when the truck showed up, and their smiles became measurably wider! (Photo by Bill Conlon)

Hail the Conquering Worm!

by Bill Conlon

Ask a kid what "bait" means and the instant answer will be: Worms.

Any why not? Worms have been the downfall of more fish than any other ten baits combined. Only the hand grenade, I do believe, is more dependable for filling a stringer.

At first, I couldn't imagine why a fish would eat a worm. After all, how would a fish -- living under the water -- ever get even a look at a subterranean creature like a worm? Talk about different worlds!

Then it came to me, as I sat beside a roiled and muddy stream in the Spring. All that mud in the brook came from somewhere, but where? Aha! Under normal conditions, a stream flows along on a bed of sand and gravel. All the mud and muck is long gone, washed away.

But in Spring, the water level is high. The water lifts above the sand level and starts washing away bare dirt, hence the muddy water. Any worms living in the dirt bank may get flushed into the stream, and the trout are waiting to pounce!

Here in New England we have two sorts of worms: Nightcrawlers and Garden Worms. (The Mealy Worms used for trout bait aren't worms at all. They're insect larvae, with crunchy shells. Worms have no shell at all, or bones for that matter. Very easy to chew!)

Nightcrawlers are big and fat and up to 10 inches long if they stretch out. They have a brown head and a grey-brown body, with a tan ring near the head that serves a reproductive function. 'Crawlers mate by lying side by side, with the head of one against the ring of the other. Each worm is both male and female (or hermaphroditic), so finding a mate is pretty simple.

Digging is one way to collect a can of Nightcrawlers, but there is a better method. (More on that some other day. I've got to keep something in reserve, don't I?)

Instead, digging is the best way to take Garden Worms. These smaller cousins of the Nightcrawler are grey with a pink head and a pink ring, and about four inches, max. Trout anglers swear that Garden Worms are better bait than Nightcrawlers and I'll agree. Small fish might have trouble gulping down an entire Nightcrawler, while the Garden Worm is easier to fit.

To find the right spot for digging up worms, study the surface of the dirt. Rounded lumps of dirt on the surface are the "castings" left by the worms as they feed. Worms ingest dirt, and process the organics out of the soil while the inorganics (sand and rocks) are left as castings. If you have a lot of worm castings on the lawn or garden, it's a safe bet you've found a good place to dig up this afternoon's bait.

When digging for worms, as in all forms of hunting, take only what you need and leave some for the next day. Besides, worms are great for the lawn and garden, since the holes they make aerate the soil.

Keeping worms alive is no great trick. Keep them damp but not wet, since drying out and drowning are both equally fatal. Plain dirt will work, if it's moist but not mud, but I've had much better results with damp Sphagnum Moss (found free in better swamps everywhere.)

Also, keep the worms cool. The number one rule for keeping your worms alive is simple: Keep the can OUT of the sun! I once left a can of worms in the back window of a friend's Chevy, and when I popped open the can that afternoon, the smell was so bad our eyes were watering! Wow!

One popular roadside stand that I don't see much anymore is Worms For Sale, $1 a dozen. Enterprising kids might want to consider such a business, if they can avoid using up all of their profits at the brook ...

Gun Owners Action League (or GOAL) is holding its annual show, auction and banquet at the Royal Plaza Trade Center on Route 20 in Marlboro, just west of I-495. The auction begins promptly at 5 p.m. this Saturday, May 11, with the banquet to immediately follow. The show will run next weekend, May 18-19, from 9-5 Saturday and 9-3 on Sunday. Admission to the gun show is $5 for adults, $4 seniors. You must phone (508) 393-5333 to reserve a spot at the banquet, at $25 per person for a roast turkey feast.

One of my favorite Spring sights will be appearing soon. Ducklings! I love to watch flotillas of ducklings on the pond, swimming in a swarm around Mama Duck like destroyers circling a battleship. Soon!

White Sox blast Orioles as in Wilmington Little League action

White Sox 9 Orioles 1

On a night better suited to hockey than baseball, the White Sox (sponsored by Reading Trophy) upset the Orioles (sponsored by Zeneca Resins) in their season opener in Wilmington Little League action.

Brad Lawrenson pitched three strong shutout innings for the Sox, striking out eight, walking one and allowing only one hit. Chris Isberg finished up with two strong innings of one run relief.

Top Sox offense came from Matt Wainor (two hits), Isberg (two hits), Joey Downs, Lawrenson and Steve Cililla. Defensively Wainor behind the plate and Mike Ellsworth at first were excellent.

Ryan Gaudet had two of the Orioles three hits, while Matt Beattes collected the other. Tim Rose and Robert Mills played a strong defensive game for the O's.

Twins 3 Yankees 9

In the Yankees (sponsored by F&R Auto) and Twins (sponsored by Tectron) opening game of the season, the Twins took an early 3-0 lead in the first inning, but the Yankees came back by scoring one in second, four in the fourth and four more in the fifth while holding the Twins scoreless in the last five innings.

Yankees started the game with Pranav Vaidya, who was a little nervous in the first inning, walking two and giving up two hits to give the Twins their three runs. He then settled down holding the Twins scoreless in the second and third before giving way to David Rappoli who pitched the last three innings. Pranav gave up two hits with four walks and four strikeouts.

David Rappoli allowed no hits and no walks, while striking out four in the last three innings. Stephen Natoli made a nice stab of a line drive to left. Mark Kracinski also made a fielding gem at second base. Hitters for the Yankees were Kyle Burns and David Rappoli with two hits each, while Mark Kracinski (double), Pat Taylor (triple), Dennis DiCenso, Craig Osgood and Sean Osgood each had one hit.

The Twins pitched Dennis Liberty the first three innings, giving up just one run on two hits, three walks and six Ks. Jenny Muse pitched the last two innings. Collins and James O'Neil were the lone hitters for the Twins, each getting singles in the first inning.

A's 4 Yankees 10

In the second game of the season, the A's (sponsored by Janis Research) winning streak extended over three seasons finally came to an end as the Yankees (sponsored by F&R Auto) beat the A's 10-4.

The A's started Justin Harrison as their pitcher and the Yankees went with Craig Osgood. Justin pitched the first three innings allowing five runs on three hits, while striking out six and walking two. Chris Dancewicz and Tom Doyle pitched the fourth and fifth allowing five more runs on three hits, three walks and three strikeouts.

The A's had two hits from Justin Harrison and Mike Senerain, and one hit from Joe Luciano, Jack Webb and Brandon Courtois. Harrison and Senerain had two hits each. The Yankees didn't walk anyone but Craig Osgood and Dave Rappoli each hit two batters. Craig Osgood started and pitched the first three innings allowing no runs on one hit and four strikeouts in her season debut.

David Rappoli pitched the last three innings allowing four runs on six hits and eight strikeouts. Craig Osgood scored three runs from the leadoff spot, while Kyle Burns, David Rappoli, Dennis DiCenso, Pat Graham, Mark Kracinsky an Pranav Vaidya each had one hit. Dave Rappoli tripled in two runs while Kyle Burns and Pat Graham each had one rbi.

Sean Osgood turned in the first fumble play of the season by snobbing a line drive at second and then catching the runner off first.

Yankees 9 Tigers 1

The Yankees won their third game of the season by defeating the Tigers (sponsored by James Miceli) 9-1. David Rappoli started on the mound for the Yankees pitching the first three innings. Dave gave up no runs, on one hit, seven strikeouts and no walks. Pranav Vaidya pitched the next two innings, allowing one run, one hit, two walks and two strikeouts.

Craig Osgood pitched the last inning, striking out all three batters he faced. Kyle Burns drove in two runs and scored two runs as well as catching six solid innings. David Rappoli had a double, while Sean Osgood, Craig Osgood, Kyle Burns and Mark Kracinski each had singles. Pat Taylor had a fine catch in right field.

The Tigers pitched David Velardo, Greg Buck and Ryan Layton. David Velardo didn't allow a run in the first two innings, while striking out four and walking two. tina Downs and Diana Lee. Halfbacks Charlotte Hauray, Stefanie Sordillo, Tara Scola, Cheryl Kelly and Erin McDonough gave superior efforts with each playing more minutes than usual at the demanding position.

A special effort was made by Kristen Pelletier who played a great halfback position after being at forward for the entire fall and early spring seasons.

Late in the game, with forwards Jen McGowan, Kim Gillespie and Jessica Garbati creating pressure in the Westford end, a loose ball was picked up by Cheryl Kelly just outside the penalty area. After moving to the right in an attempt to gain a prime shooting angle, Cheryl unleashed a drive which was blocked in front of the net by Westford defenders. Kim Gillespie quickly pounced on the ball and drove it into the net off the left post. There was only one minute remaining in the game.

Wilmington finished the first half of the season with a three win, one loss, one tie record. The team's next game is Saturday, May 11 at 11:15 a.m. at the Shawsheen field vs Medford.
